Seven members attended the AKCCOP conference at Johnson County Community College in April and, as usual, a good time was had by all. Thank you JCCC! Many of us are already making plans for El Dorado in April.

We held election of officers for 2015-16. They are Gloria Beeman, president, Rhonda Thomas, vice president, Lindsey Donovan, secretary, and Karin Jacobson, treasurer.

We raffled off two homemade quilts made from old NCCC T-shirts that fellow member Mary Stitch put together. They were a big hit. We are currently selling Rada cutlery products to help fund our coffers.

We continue to provide care packages to students in our residence halls which parents seem to appreciate. What an easy way to tell their loved ones they are thinking of them.

We continue with our monthly luncheons. We pick a different location off campus each month to gather, eat, and get crazy.

Our president, Dr. Brian Inbody, is president of the Council of Presidents (COPS) this year and handed out AKCCOP brochures at the last meeting to try to encourage more presidents to support the organization in their schools.

Many of us gathered for a farewell party for one of our members, Terri Dale, who retired the end of June after 27 years of service to NCCC. She will be missed.
